PPS, Alloa Business Centre, Whins Road, Alloa, FK10 3SA

The Psychologists Protection Society is a defence organisation, run for the benefit of members. The main purpose of PPS is to provide members with assistance when complaints are received from clients and other professional protection matters. Our members include trainees and qualified persons working in the talking and listening therapies. Although originally limited to members from the field of psychology, members now include counsellors, psychotherapists, art therapists, music therapists, drama therapists and similar related groups.

By joining PPS, a member benefits from a wider range of cover and indemnities than other organisations, by combining a membership contract with insurance policies. Membership provides as standard: Public Liability Insurance, Professional Indemnity Insurance, discretionary assistance from our Trust Funds, Legal & Professional advice and assistance through our Legal Helpline and free access to members CPD events.
